Item 8.

General Report of the Vice President for Research

Dr. Christopher Davies reported on MUSC’s Year-to-Date funding levels for FY2018. Extramural funding is up more than $15M compared to this time last year. The greatest increase has been in federal funding, but foundation awards are also on the rise. Two major awards have contributed to this increase:

- ECCHO award to Dr. John Vena in the Department of Public Health Sciences from National Institutes of Health (UG3 OD023316) for $9.2M.
- Mass Violence Center award to Dr. Dean Kilpatrick in the Department of Psychiatry & Behavioral Sciences from the Department of Justice for $6.1M.

Dr. Gary S. Gilkeson presented the MUSC Lupus Erythematosus (MUSCLE) Research Group, which was formed in 1996 when he and Dr. Jim C. Oates joined MUSC. Dr. Gilkeson and his colleagues see more than 2,000 lupus patients a year and currently have a total of $7.2M in extramural funding for both their basic science and clinical research. Most recently, their group received a $7.5M grant co-funded by the National Institutes of Health and Lupus Foundation of America for investigating the use of mesenchymal stem cells to treat lupus. MUSC serves as the coordinating center for this multi-site trial.
