Item 8. General Report of the Vice President for Research

Dr. Kathleen T. Brady reported on MUSC's funding data for FY2017. Funding levels are slightly lower than the previous year, however National Institutes of Health (NIH) funding has increased. While corporate funding decreased in FY2017, the new Office of Clinical Research will help MUSC build its clinical trials portfolio through industry partnerships. The College of Medicine has increased its NIH funding and has been steadily climbing in NIH rankings (2016 federal fiscal year ranked 42 out of 132 Colleges of Medicine). The College of Dental Medicine’s funding levels decreased, due to the completion of a large Center of Biomedical Research Excellence (COBRE) grant. With the recruitment of a new Dean of the College of Dental Medicine, the funding portfolio is expected to increase. The College of Health Professions continues to do well, ranking 4th in the nation for NIH funding out of 64 College of Health Professions. The College of Nursing also continues to do well, especially in NIH funding. The College of Pharmacy's funding levels are down due to the departure of a faculty member with a robust NIH portfolio. Going forward, recruitment efforts are expected to bolster funding levels in the College of Pharmacy.

An ongoing initiative at MUSC has been to increase the number of NIH multi-component grants, many of which include funding for infrastructure. These grants bring together investigators across colleges and disciplines. Funding levels for these awards have been steadily on the rise.

Dr. Brady shared exciting news about three grants MUSC recently received:
• Dr. Dean Kilpatrick is leading the Resource Center for Victims of Mass Violence, which includes funding of $18M for 3 years from the Department of Justice.

• Dr. Dee Ford will receive $3M over 3 years for the Telehealth Center of Excellence from the Health Resources & Services Administration. This grant will enable to telehealth team to add research on health policy to the excellent clinical services they offer.

• Dr. Marvella Ford and her collaborators at MUSC and South Carolina State University (SCSU) were recently awarded $12M in funding over 5 years from the National Cancer Institute for the South Carolina Cancer Disparities Research Center. This grant includes a training platform that will increase the pipeline of biomedical researchers from SCSU and bolster clinical trial efforts.

Mr. Patrick Wamsley, CFO, presented a dashboard representing the August 31, 2017 University interim financial statements. He reported 141 Days of Operating Cash, a Current Funds (Operating Budget) margin of 1.41% and noted that the major contributors to adjusted operations were private grants and contracts, sales of services to the hospital, and reductions in spending for supplies and services.

Mr. Wamsley also discussed how certain non-cash transactions such as pension expense, investment earnings/losses and depreciation expense affected the all-funds (SRENCP) financial statements and created a $1.8 million (1.59%), deficit. He explained that if the unfunded pension expenses (GASB 68) had been removed from the calculation, then the margin would have been a positive 1.03%.
