Spring Out of Stress

By Dean Gail Stuart, PhD, APRN, BC, FAAN

Spring is a delightful time of year. Nature is lush, verdant, budding and filled with new promise. It is a time to reset our chronological clocks and re-examine the ways in which we spend our time. I hope that this spring each of us will take the opportunity to reset our stress clocks as well. So here are some thoughts on how to manage the stress in your life.

• Know yourself. Be aware of your stress level and know what stresses you out. Learn your own stress signals.
• Recognize how you deal with stress. Do you engage in unhealthy behaviors or lose patience with others when you feel overwhelmed by work pressures?
• Turn off and tune in. Communication technology can take you to productivity heights never imagined, but it can also take over your life. Let technology be a tool that works for you, rather than the other way around.
• Keep a “To-Do” list. Constantly thinking through all the things you need to get done? Clear your head and put those thoughts on paper by creating a list of work and personal tasks and marking those with the highest priority.
• Take short breaks. Stay energized and productive by taking a minute or two periodically throughout the day to stand up, stretch, breathe deeply and shake off the accumulating tension.
• Find healthy ways to manage stress. Work to replace unhealthy coping strategies with healthy behaviors, like exercise, meditation or talking with friends and family. Take it slow and focus on changing one behavior at a time.
• Take care of yourself. Eat right, get enough sleep, drink plenty of water and engage in regular physical activity. No matter how hectic life gets, make some time for yourself.
• Be kind and thoughtful of others. Saying “thank you”, “I’m sorry”, or “well done” is very therapeutic. Use words to nourish and support others or don’t use them at all.
• Smile and take time to laugh. Laughter truly is a very potent medicine.

Happy spring…Gail
Attention Faculty...

Beginning April 1st, all regular faculty members should update their Employee Database file for use during the annual evaluation process which begins May 1. Reports for use in evaluating faculty will be generated by Dr. Elizabeth Erkel, Department Chair, on May 1. If any information is missing, it cannot be used for evaluation.

Unnatural Causes

Beginning June 15th, SC ETV will air a program entitled, “Unnatural Causes: Is Inequality Making Us Sick.” This four part series will air on Sundays at 6 p.m.

This new documentary series crisscrosses the country exploring how the social conditions in which Americans are born, live and work profoundly affect health and longevity, even more than medical care, behaviors and genes. This four-hour television series challenges fundamental beliefs about what makes Americans healthy - or sick - and offers new remedies for an ailing society. While embracing the essential need for universal health care, UNNATURAL CAUSES goes further, questioning what makes people ill in the first place, and probing why economic status, race and zip code are more powerful predictors of health status and life expectancy than even smoking.

The College of Nursing’s Office of Practice, in conjunction with the Center for Community Health Partnerships, will purchase this series on DVD. If you miss an episode, the Office of Practice will be showing the DVD series in the near future. Look for date and time in an upcoming eCONnections.

Transforming Nursing Roles on Television

Showtime recently announced it is planning a new television series that will air later this year starring actress Edie Falco as a "strong-willed, iconoclastic New York City nurse juggling the frenzied grind of an urban hospital and an equally challenging personal life." The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) encourages nurses and nurse leaders to request the television station create realistic storylines for Falco’s character about nurses, and their professional and personal lives that would resonate with millions of nurses. RWJF recently wrote to Showtime to suggest that true-to-life plot concepts—such as a life-or-death scenario arising from the understaffing of nurses—could help to make the series instructive as well as dramatic and entertaining. If you would like to put in your two cents, send a letter to: Showtime Networks, Inc. • 1633 Broadway • New York, NY • 10019
Research Poster Day

The Nurse Alliance Research Council announces Research Poster Day 2008. The event will be held May 9, during Nurses Week. All nurses are invited to submit a research abstract for a poster presentation. Only online submissions will be accepted. Don’t miss the opportunity to showcase your scholarly work and share the results of your research and clinical innovations with other nursing leaders, clinical staff nurses, educators, and researchers!

We Haven’t Even Made it to First Base!

There is less than a month until the May 2nd RiverDogs game at “the Joe” and we’ve only sold 16 tickets to date! If we don’t sell the allotted amount they won’t hold the day for the College of Nursing. Tickets are $14 which includes entrance into the game, hamburgers, hot-dogs, chips, cookies, tea and lemonade.

So run – don’t walk – to contact Beth Barnett Khan at barnette@musc.edu or 792-9690 to purchase your tickets TODAY!

Convocation and Graduation Information

Congratulations to the Class of May 2008! Convocation is scheduled for Thursday, May 15 at St. Matthew’s Lutheran Church, 405 King Street. The program will begin promptly at 3 p.m., however graduates are asked to arrive by 2 p.m. so that you may be assisted with robing and line-up for the processional. There will be a rehearsal for this special event on Wednesday, May 14 at 3 p.m.

Convocation generally lasts an hour and a half and includes the pinning of the undergraduate students and the hooding of the master’s and doctoral students. Several awards and recognitions are part of the ceremony as well. Family and friends are invited to attend. There will be a light reception in the St. Matthew’s Fellowship Hall following Convocation.

Parking is available in the area, specifically at the garage adjacent to the Francis Marion Hotel (corner of King and Calhoun Streets) and the Charleston Visitor’s Center located on Meeting Street. Car-pooling is advised.

Graduates will wear their graduation robe and hoods. Caps are not worn at Convocation. There will be a photographer at the event.

The following morning, Friday, May 16 is Graduation. This event begins at 9 a.m., but graduates are asked to arrive at the Institute of Psychiatry Auditorium Lobby by 7:30 a.m. so that you may be assisted with robing and line-up for the processional. Graduates will wear their graduation robe, hoods, and caps. Comfortable shoes are recommended.

The Web site for Commencement is: http://www.musc.edu/academics/grad/index.html. This site has information for candidate’s guests (including disability accommodation), as well as information about news releases, photos and videos, and adverse weather plans. There is also a map for candidate and audience seating.

There are still a few unclaimed robes and invitations in CON, room 307. Please contact Mardi Long, longm@musc.edu, for additional information or answers to any questions.
Palmetto Gold Winners Announced

Congratulations to Nancy Duffy, Marilyn King, and Sheila Smith who have been selected to receive the 2008 Palmetto Gold Award from the South Carolina Nurses Foundation. These College of Nursing faculty members will be recognized at the annual Palmetto Gold Gala to be held on April 19 at Seawell's Restaurant in Columbia.

This is the seventh year for the Palmetto Gold Nurse Recognition Program that honors nurses who have demonstrated excellence in the practice of nursing and commitment to the profession.

In addition, the College is proud that of its full-time nursing faculty, 74 percent have received the South Carolina Palmetto Gold Award for Nursing Excellence.

Window Refurbishment to Begin

Exciting news! Work is set to begin to repair the windows in the College of Nursing building. Each window will be restored to ensure that it is fully functional and aesthetically pleasing. It may be possible that faculty and staff will need to vacate their office for several days during the work. Alternate office space has been designated within the building should this be necessary. Susan Sparks will be coordinating with the contractor and will give everyone a ‘heads up’ about their particular office refurbishment as work progresses.

CON School-wide Retreat for Faculty, Staff and Students
Friday, August 1 • 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Edisto Shelter at James Island County Park
(All faculty and staff are expected to attend.)
The following proposals were submitted by CON faculty for the MUSC SCETR awards that offer an award of $50,000 for one year of funding. Eighty-seven proposals were submitted campus-wide. We wish all of them luck!

- Dr. Phyllis Bonham, “Are Toe Pressures measured by a portable photoplethysmograph to Assess for Lower-extremity Arterial Disease Interchange Able with Toe Pressures measured with Standard Laboratory Equipment?” Co-investigator: Dr. Teresa Kelechi.

- Dr. Janet Grossman, “Academic-Community partnership in Evaluation and Dissemination of E-learning in Youth Suicide prevention”. Co-investigator: Dr. Martina Mueller.

- Dr. Lisa M. Vandemark, “Changing Human Behavior patterns That Influence Vulnerability to Vector-borne and Infectious Disease: planning Community Wellness Interventions in Northeast Thailand and the Mekong Valley.”

Also making news...Dr. Elaine Amella resubmitted for R21 funding to the NIH/National Institute on Aging a proposal entitled “Feeding in Elderly with Late-stage Dementia: The FIELD Trial” for $275,000 for two years. Amella is Co-pI with Dr. Mark DeLegge who is professor of medicine in the Digestive Disease Center. Drs. Jane Zapka and Gayenell Magwood are also investigators on this proposal.

Andrews Submits ROI

On March 7, Dr. Jeannette Andrews submitted a proposal entitled, “A Social Ecological Based Smoking Cessation Intervention in Public Housing” for R01 funding to the NIH/National Institute for Nursing Research. If funded, this project will run for five years for a total of $3,100,006 and bring together communities in the Charleston area, as well as in Georgia to assist women living in public housing to quit smoking. We all have our fingers crossed for Jeannette! Dr. Martina Mueller is a Co-investigator on the proposal.

Doctoral Fellowships Available

The Veteran’s Administration has pre-doctoral and post-doctoral Fellowships available for current students and recent graduates in the MUSC doctoral program. For more information, contact Dr. Charlene Pope, Associate Nurse Executive for Research at the Ralph H. Johnson VA Medical Center and CON faculty member, at 792-4642 or popec@musc.edu.

Be A Player in the Research Game

The Upstate AHEC in collaboration with the Nursing Research Council of the Greenville Hospital System University Medical Center, AnMed Health and Gamma Mu Chapter of Sigma Theta Tau is sponsoring its sixth annual research symposium on September 26 from 8:30 a.m. - 4:15 p.m. at the University Center of Greenville. On April 18, Dr. Deborah Williamson will present an abstract entitled, "Employees of Academic Health Centers: A Community Partnership" at the Uniting Practice, Education and Research Beta Omicron Conference in Augusta, GA.

Public Health Action Journal Club

Topic: “Dialogues in Culture”
Following up on Dr. Nancy Krieger’s video conference on social determinants of care, a DVD containing a series of interviews with individuals representing diverse populations will stimulate the discussion on how nurses and other professionals can facilitate culturally congruent care. This DVD was funded by HRSA and contains interviews with refugees, Iraq war veterans, Native Americans, and members of the lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender (LGBT) community. Students, staff, and faculty are invited to participate in the Journal Club that will be held Monday, April 28 from 3 - 4 p.m. in the Historical Library.

Researchers Burdened With Administrative Work

According to a new report released by the Federal Demonstration Partnership (FDP) Principal investigators on federal research grants spend about 42 percent of their time dealing with administrative work related to their project rather than on science. The findings of the "faculty burden survey" were derived from responses of more than 6,000 university faculty. The FDP notes that "the 'creep' toward increasing administrative burden decreases the productivity of our nation's talented academic researchers and lessens the impact of the federal dollars invested in research." The burden, in part, consists of progress report submissions, personnel hiring, project revenue management, institutional review board protocols and training, and numerous other requirements. No single burden stands out as the greatest problem, the report notes. The FDP, which grew out of a project that begun in 1986, is a cooperative initiative between ten federal agencies and 98 institutions that collective-ly receive more than $15 billion in federal funds, with a goal to streamline procedures for administration of research grants and contracts. For more information, visit http://www.thefdp.org/Faculty_Committee.html#P11_2305.

Hispanic Health Initiative News

The Hispanic Health Initiative (HHI) Internship Program has placed Citadel cadets, Jonathan Montes and Richard Doelling, with Interpreter Services and Sea Island Medical Center.

HHI also has been working with two other cadets who are dedicating two days a week to Mt. Zion Elementary School on Johns Island. These devoted Spanish majors, Michael Warwick and Meyber Fletes, have made a breakthrough. Thanks to Warwick’s patience and persistence, he has been able to identify a learning disability with one of his mentees. Originally thought to just be a language barrier issue, Warwick was able to give administrators at the school solid reason to believe that the situation was bigger than this young student’s inability to understand English. Hopefully, this student will now receive the attention needed to be successful in school.

In February, Dr. Barbara Edlund chaired one of eight review panels for HRSA, Division of Nursing in Rockville, MD. The panels reviewed 136 Advanced Education Program Grant submissions.

Dr. Susan Benedict participated in the Second International History of Nursing Conference in Stuttgart, Germany on March 14. Her presentation topic was ethical dilemmas of nurses and was based on her NIH-K award “Nurses and Ethical Dilemmas”.

On April 9th, Benedict will be presenting at the Royal College of Nursing International Research Conference in Liverpool, England. This presentation, also from her NIH-K award, will be a part of a symposium on ethics.

Vandemark Receives Fulbright

Dr. Lisa M. Vandemark, Research Assistant Professor, has been awarded a Fulbright Scholar grant to conduct community-based participatory research at Ubon Ratchathani University in Thailand during the 2008-2009 academic year. This research will focus on identifying behaviors that influence vulnerability to vector-borne and infectious disease in Northeast Thailand. The purpose is to design health education materials that are sensitive to cultural conditions and relevant to community life, and to collect community-level data that can be integrated with other data relevant to infectious disease using a geographic information system (GIS).

The Fulbright Program is sponsored by the United States Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. Since its inception, the Fulbright Program has exchanged approximately 273,500 people – 102,900 Americans who have studied, taught or researched abroad and 170,600 students, scholars, and teachers from other countries who have engaged in similar activities in the United States. The program operates in more than 150 countries worldwide.

Recipients of Fulbright awards are selected on the basis of academic or professional achievement, as well as demonstrated leadership potential in their fields.

Publications & Presentations

PUBLICATIONS:

PRESENTATIONS:

Dr. Lynne Nemeth’s paper entitled, “Improving the Translation of Research into Primary Care Practice: Results of a National Quality Improvement Demonstration Project” was accepted to the Joint Commission Journal on Quality and Patient Safety. The paper was co-written by Steven Ornstein, Paul J. Nietert, Ruth G. Jenkins, Andrea M. Wessell, Lynne S. Nemeth, Loraine Roylance, and Heather Liszka.

Lynn Shull, Assistant Dean for Finance and Administration, will present “How Much Does Your Nursing Program Cost? Why you need to know” at the Opening Session for the annual AACN Business Officers meeting that will be held April 23 - 25 in Boston, MA. Lynn has been very active in this organization, serving as President in 2001-2003.
Barron Receives Earl B. Higgins Scholarship Award

Master of Science in Nursing student Mia Barron will receive the Earl B. Higgins Scholarship Award at the 12th Annual Achievements in Diversity Award Presentation and Awards Ceremony on April 2.

Mia is a December 2001 graduate of the Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree program. As an undergraduate student, Mia was the recipient of the Ida Spruill Scholarship, McLeod Minority Scholarship, Lettie Pate Whitehead Scholarship, and Congressional Black Caucus Education Scholarship.

Mia co-authored publications with former faculty member, Dr. Barbara Powe, and has presented at two conferences. She has worked at the Medical University of South Carolina as a clinical nurse coordinator, and community advisor and clinical research nurse coordinator for the Department of Rheumatology. She has been a Lupus Health Educator for the Lupus Foundation of America, Inc. and Program Coordinator for the Office on Women’s Health, Region IV, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

She is a member of several professional organizations including the Association of Rheumatology Health Professionals, Minority Women Health Panel of Experts, and the National Black Nurses Association.

Boykin Recognized in Wellness Program

Megan Boykin, second semester accelerated BSN student, was recognized in week three of the “Fit It In” Wellness Program in the “New User Category.” Way to go, Megan!

United Hospice Foundation Scholarship

The United Hospice Foundation is offering three $1,000 scholarships to nursing, pharmacy and rehab students (PT, OT, CSD).

To be considered for a scholarship, you must demonstrate financial need and a strong commitment to hospice nursing, long-term care, and/or pain management. All applicants must be legal residents of the states of Florida, Georgia, North Carolina or South Carolina and must be:

• Accepted into a nursing program working towards a Diploma, Associates, Bachelors or Masters degree as a Registered Nurse or Licensed Practical Nurse.
• Accepted into a school of pharmacy working towards a degree of pharmD.
• Accepted into a school of rehabilitation working towards a degree of Physical Therapy, Occupational Therapy or Speech Therapy.

For an application, visit www.unitedhospicefoundation.org/scholarships.html. The deadline for application is June 30th.

Fox and McFann to be Arrested

Jennifer Fox, classes of December 2005 and May 2008, and her preceptor, Amanda McFann, classes December 2004 and May 2006, will be arrested on Sunday, April 23 to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Jennifer, who completes her master’s degree in May, says, “It is so great to work with a nurse practitioner who values the community they live in as well as their patients. This is an exciting opportunity.” The “lock-up” will take place in Summerville. The goals are to complete a project together as well as raise money for the community. Their “bail” or fundraising goal is $2,800.

If you are interested in contributing to this activity, please contact Jennifer Fox at foxje@musc.edu or simply go to the personal donation page and donate online. The address is https://www.mdaevent.org/ParticipantInfo.aspx?j=b1c7fae9-9efa-45a0-87c1-9285adad17b6.
Alumni Celebrate 125 Years at College Homecoming

The College of Nursing celebrated its annual Homecoming on March 8, with a record number of alumni participating. The morning reception welcomed over 75 alumni representing classes from the 1950’s and each of the decades following. Many attendees were from out of state, including New York, Maryland, and West Virginia.

Eager to share their stories about being a student and nurse, former alumni board president, Dottie Halsey, Class of 1953, says “it was great to be part of an organization with such a long and rich history.” Mrs. Halsey served as the Alumni Association President the year of the 100th Anniversary.

The evening activities also hosted a record 152 attendees and included a Lowcountry reception and Silent Auction. The Silent Auction Committee, chaired by Nancy Finch, Class of 1985, and Stephanie Chomos, Class of 2004, offered more than 125 items and raised more than $10,000 for student scholarships, surpassing their goal. The class gift, presented by Ms. Caroline Counts, Classes of 1968, 1982, and 1988 was $5,672.

Five $2,000 student scholarships were awarded during the evening program. Recipients included Andy White, Class of May 2009; Ashley Bath, Class of December 2008; Rebecca Freeman, Class of May 2008; Erin Wilson, Class of May 2008 (MSN); and Pam Murphy (doctoral student). These stellar students with diverse interests and strengths represent a bright future for nursing.

Two alumni, Ms. Shirley Hendrix and Ms. Leigh Wood, were awarded the Outstanding Alumnus Award. Former Alumni Board presidents were also recognized and a perpetual plaque honoring these special volunteers will be hung in the College of Nursing.
