HARMONIZING EXPOSURE ASSESSMENT DATA ACROSS COHORTS SYMPOSIUM

Sponsored by MUSC Department of Public Health Sciences Biomarine Environmental and Coastal Health Program and CofC Center for Coastal Environmental and Human Health

9:00AM - 1:30PM February 27, 2018 | Marine Resources Division (MRD) Auditorium | 217 Fort Johnson Rd

Featuring talks from experts:

• John Vena, PhD - Professor and Founding Chair, MUSC Department of Public Health Sciences
• Jessica Reiner, PhD - Research Chemist, National Institute of Standards and Technology
• John Pearce, PhD - Assistant Professor, MUSC Department of Public Health Sciences and others...

Keynote Speaker: Shoji Nakayama, MD, PhD
Section Head, Center for Health and Environmental Risk Research, National Institute for Environmental Studies, Japan

Symposium Topics

- Environmental Influences on Child Health Outcomes (ECHO) Originating from the NICHD Fetal Growth Studies
- Characterizing exposure to complex environmental mixtures with self-organizing maps
- Japan Environment and Children’s Study
- On-going international harmonization efforts on children’s exposure measurements
- Challenges we face including reference materials, sensor technologies and statistical model development

REGISTRATION REQUIRED

RSVP by February 21 to simpst@musc.edu