How can IL-2 (a T cell growth factor) be used to expand adoptively transferred T cells when host cells compete for IL-2?

- Host T cells can outcompete donor T cells for IL-2, thus limiting cancer therapy.

- Radiation or chemotherapy can destroy host T cells, but this is toxic.

- Donor T cells can be engineered to express IL-2 receptors.