

Back Yard composting container

This Back Yard composting container is made out of four wooden shipping pallets. A recent addition to the Therapy Garden at the Institute of Psychiatry, it is simple to build and does not require much space. The metal brackets allow for easy replacement of one of the pallets should the wood deteriorate. Simply remove the 8 screws and 4 bolts and a new pallet can be added to extend the life of this bin.

Add branches, leaves and other yard waste; in just a few months compost will be ready, tip it on its side and spread compost around plants.
